About This Enrichment Program Guide

The 2025-2026 Pueblo County Enrichment Program Guide for Families with Young Children was compiled by the Supporting the Early Childhood Community (SECC) Parent Coalition based on feedback from parents, families, and caregivers of young children (birth to 8 years old). The SECC Parent Coalition is a group created by the Pueblo Early Childhood Council (PECC) and Children First at Pueblo Community College to provide advocacy and resource connections for all of those in Pueblo County who are helping to raise the community's newest generation.

This Enrichment Program Guide was developed in response to community members reaching out to the SECC Parent Coalition asking for an easy way to find programs and activities in the community that are available for families to engage their young children outside of the home or a structured early childhood program (for example, young children attending preschool, daycare, home based care).

This Enrichment Program Guide is broken down into four main sections based on the cost of the program or activity. Some of the programs or activities require registration or have a sign-up process; others are open to the community at any time. The programs and activities are listed in alphabetical order and contain links to websites providing more information on the program or activity. Programs are listed alphabetical order by cost.

There are many paid programs or activities offering discounts or scholarships to families who qualify for assistance. Those programs and activities offering discounts or scholarships are italicized; please contact each program or activity individually for more information about what is available to help with the program or activity cost.

Within each of the main sections, the programs and activities are broken down into two other sections: Outdoors and Sports plus Learning and Parenting. The Outdoors and Sports programs and activities are those where movement is the main opportunity. The Learning and Parenting programs and activities contain opportunities for young children and their families and caregivers to experience brain growth focused experiences.

This Enrichment Program Guide is the SECC Parent Coalition's best effort at compiling a comprehensive list of programs and activities for young children and their families and caregivers in Pueblo County. If there are programs or activities missing from this list, please send the program or activity's information to childrenfirst@pueblocc.edu.
